Lake Placid Lodge

Lake Placid Lodge – the only hotel on Lake Placid – is balanced on the edge of village and forest, a Great Camp for the new century. It is a realm of infinite welcome and great beauty, where the wide porches, high windows, grand outdoor fireplaces and paths wandering off into the woods embrace the magnificence of nature.

The Lodge is a celebration of all that was – and remains – best in the Adirondacks. Its beams are hewn by hand, its rooms filled with art and antiques, its beds were carved by local artisans and its fifty stone fireplaces laid piece-by-piece by Adirondack masons. It is a traditional, personal retreat; rustic and splendid as the Great Camps have always been.
